

FLEKS

International Graffiti & Contemporary Urban Artist Graffiti · Robots · Future Cities · Street Culture

FLEKS is a Dutch graffiti and contemporary urban artist whose practice bridges the energy of street culture with public art, contemporary exhibition-making, and cross-disciplinary visual experimentation. His work has been presented across Europe, Asia, Australia, and the United States, spanning museums, galleries, international street art festivals, public art commissions, artist residencies, and collaborations with global brands.

SELECTED ARTISTIC DEVELOPMENT

1998 – Present

Graffiti, Street Art & Contemporary Urban Practice

FLEKSONE's practice has evolved from letter-based graffiti into a broader visual language incorporating urban narratives, futuristic cityscapes, robots, public art, mixed-media painting, and contemporary spatial interventions. His work continues to explore the relationship between street culture, technology, imagination, and the evolving visual identity of the city.
